One more year IRODaT is compiling the international activity rates on organ donation and transplantation. The aim of this Registry is to build a strong and reliable database that allows each country to analyze the results obtained and compare them to previous years and to other countries activity.

In order to obtain a first general overview of the 2006 international activity, IRODaT asks to all the countries to report their preliminary results, displayed in this issue. They must be read as a preview of the definitive data, which will be published in the next edition of Organs, Tissues & Cells journal.

Bearing in mind that transparency is one of the most important points to be considered during the publication of these values, IRODaT also informs about the organization and person in charge of the activity reported.
